

The 6th Annual Adventure Education Experience

During this dynamic workshop health and physical educators, group facilitators, counselors, and alternative school personnel will participate in cutting edge games and activities to learn techniques that maximize experiential learning.

The group will experience activities and challenges and then debrief to maximize the cooperative learning experience. Educators will gain valuable resources for bringing experiential outcomes to their own programs.

Adventure Education Experience

Wednesday, January 9, 2008—8:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m.

The goal of this workshop is to present a practical overview of experiential learning. Participants will be provided with NEW adventure-based games, activities, and group challenges they can use with their own groups.

Instructors will emphasize high impact and efficient processing and debriefing techniques. They will also demonstrate and encourage the proper use of experiential learning techniques in different types of settings.

A variety of low and high elements will be touched upon and participants will be challenged to play hard, have fun and be safe while experiencing the natural highs of learning through adventure.

Note: for participants of previous Adventure Education Experiences, this workshop will include a new climbing wall, new challenges, new games and other new elements.

LOCATION: Esby Gym, Rowan University
Indoor Adventure Facility

COST: $115.00
payable to "Rowan University/CPCE"
Fee includes lunch, beverages and professional development credits.

FACILITATORS: Rowan faculty trained through Project Adventure

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION: This workshop is limited to sixty (60) participants. In the event of a full house, a second workshop will be added on January 10, 2008.

Please wear proper attire for physical activity.

Full participation and challenge-by-choice will be encouraged.
