

Computer Science Entrance Requirements

A student who wants to enroll in the computer science major must meet the following minimum requirement:

A score of 540 or better on the math component of the SAT exam

Optional recommended requirements:

Three years of high school mathematics

At least one programming course

For external and internal transfers:

Computer science is an open major, so any student who is admitted to Rowan can transfer into the program regardless of GPA.

Applications are available in the Computer Science department and an advisor's signature is required.
