

INTERNATIONAL STUDIES

The International Studies program is an interdisciplinary concentration that prepares students for careers in an increasingly interdependent world. Students are introduced to a wide range of economic, political and environmental issues and they develop expertise in the culture, history and languages of other parts of the world. Students are required to complete at least 2 courses from a bank of core courses (below), and 4 others from any of the area studies (African, Asian, Eastern European and Russian, Latin American and Iberian, Middle Eastern and Western European) for a total of 18 credit hours. These 4 courses can be selected from the various area studies as well as from the list of core courses. There may also be courses, not listed here, that are applicable with the approval of the Coordinator. International Studies may be pursued in conjunction with major and minor programs, or as General Education, Multicultural/Global, Literature, Writing Intensive, or Rowan Seminar requirements. Study of a foreign language is recommended. Students can also pursue Study Abroad in partial fulfillment of the International Studies Concentration. For more information, contact the International Center in Robinson 117, at x4105, at ic@rowan.edu, or simply sign up at the CAP Center in Savitz Hall (code C901).

Students interested in pursuing Western European area studies must complete a study of a foreign Language at the intermediate (200) level (courses are offered up to this level in German, French, Italian, Russian and Spanish), or the equivalent. One-half of all credits (i.e. 6 credits) must be taken at the 300 level or above. To encourage the development of interdisciplinary perspectives, the remaining 6 credits must be selected from at least two academic departments.

INTERNATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY: Phi Beta Delta is a national honor society for students, faculty and staff interested in international issues. The Delta Lambda chapter at Rowan University has been in existence since 1998. This society provides a forum for students, faculty and staff to meet informally and discuss topics of common interest. It also sponsors or co-sponsors a number of activities, such as a scholarship program for student members, lectures, the International Film Series, International Week, etc. Each spring the Delta Lambda chapter of Phi Beta Delta hosts a formal initiation ceremony. Students interested in applying must demonstrate an interest in international education (Study Abroad, international student, etc.) and maintain a GPA of at least 3.1.

SCHOLARSHIPS, INTERNSHIPS AND CAREER OPPORTUNITIES: Students with a strong academic background should consider applying for some of the scholarship programs that send graduating seniors abroad, especially the Fulbright Program and the Rotary Ambassadorial Scholarship Program. For more information about these scholarships visit www.rowan.edu/internationalcenter or make an appointment with the International Studies coordinator in the International Center, located in Robinson 117. Internships in international trade, government, communications, business management and marketing can also provide students with valuable skills and work experience. For a listing of companies involved in such areas in the southern New Jersey and Philadelphia area, contact your local Chamber of Commerce. For information about international internship opportunities, you can also contact your professors, your department, or the International Center.
