2017 Program Dates: July 10 to August 4, Monday-Friday, 9am-4pm

MEDacademy is a four-week summer enrichment program for high school students aspiring to become doctors. Participants will experience what it is like to attend medical school and explore the field of medicine through lectures, hands-on demonstrations, and interactive experiences.

Program Activities
Students rotate through one featured medical specialty per week beginning with a morning lecture, followed by a combination of case-based learning activities, clinical simulations, hands-on demonstrations, featured guest speakers, and more. They will have the opportunity to tour Cooper University Hospital and present a final group project during the graduation ceremony.

Eligible Candidates
- Highly motivated and talented high school students entering junior and senior year
- Excellent academic standing (GPA of 3.3 or above)
- Successfully completed science and math courses
- Demonstrated interest in the field of medicine

Faculty
