To Whom It May Concern:

I am in complete concurrence with the change in titles of Communications 101 and 102 to "College Composition I: Written" and "College Composition II: Written and Oral." This clarifies a number of issues raised about these courses without changing their content and gives a better indication about the nature of both courses.

Alan Donovan

TITLE CHANGE

FROM: Fundamentals of Communication II 0601.102
TO : College Composition II: Written and Oral 1501.112

2. Rationale

- a. For years people have been confusing this course with an introduction to the major. This title should end that confusion, even among the most obtuse scholars and students on the campus.
- b. The major effect of this change will be to remove the course from the discipline of communications and place it in the discipline of letters.

3. Results of Consultation

Dean Donovan said he thought the change was appropriate. Prof. Palladino, who heads this area, concurred.
