To: Two courses from foreign languages OR computer sciences:

B. Sponsors

Carol N. Welsh and George C. Romeo, Department of Accounting and Finance.

II. Rationale

A. Need

Accounting students find that they must take four or five computer courses to meet the prerequisite requirements at the 200 level, which precludes them from taking excellent 100-level courses. This also provides flexibility to the B.S. in Accounting program and expands the exposures of which students may avail themselves in computer science.

B. Impact on Program
