Research Indirect Funds Distribution

The following expands upon existing policy adopted by the President’s Cabinet on Dec 5, 2011 (reproduced below).

All sponsored programs that are administered by the Research Office charge indirect (overhead) costs at a rate allowed by the sponsor, negotiated with the Federal Government and in compliance with University policy.

The following distribution model is adopted for total annual indirect costs that are recovered from all sponsored programs that are administered by the Research Office on all campuses of Rowan University:

1. 20% to the Principal Investigator’s College (to be administered by the Dean);
2. 10% to support the Principal Investigator’s research, at the discretion of the Dean (this distribution to be added to the College’s);
3. 10% to the Principal Investigator’s Department (to be administered by the Chair);
4. 5% to the Provost;
5. From the remaining 55%, $300,000 to the University General Fund (to be administered by the VP-Finance);
6. The remainder to be transferred to the Research Office, administered by the Associate Provost for Research, to be used for the purposes of faculty research development, marketing, matching funds, and other needs as appropriate to enhance the quality and quantity of research in the University.

This policy will be effective for a period of 5 years until FY-2019, and will revisited in Fall 2018.

(Adopted by the President’s Cabinet, Dec 5, 2011)

All sponsored programs that are administered by the Research Office charge indirect (overhead) costs at a rate allowed by the sponsor, negotiated with the Federal Government and in compliance with University policy.

The following distribution model is adopted for total annual indirect costs that are recovered from all sponsored programs on campus that are administered by the Research Office:

1. 20% to the Principal Investigator’s Department (to be administered by the Chair);
2. 25% to the Principal Investigator’s College (to be administered by the Dean);
3. 5% to the Provost;
4. $300,000 to the University General Fund;
5. The remainder to be transferred to the Research Office, administered by the Associate Provost for Research, to be used for the purposes of faculty research development, marketing, matching funds, and other needs as appropriate to enhance the quality and quantity of research in the University.