Minor Curricular Change Proposal

1. Details

a. Intro to Behavioral Research to Criminal Justice Research

b. Charles P. Nemeth
Chair/Curriculum Committee

2. Rationale: That the name change is necessary because of the following factors:

1. That it will reduce conceptual overlap between departments such as Sociology and Psychology.
2. The new course name will clearly appraise students that the focus of the course will be Criminal Justice Research Methods which is appropriate for our Department.
3. The course name is fairly uniform throughout the United States and would comply with the Academy of Criminal Justice Sciences accreditation standards.

3. Results of Consultation

a. Dr. Eleanor Gaer

b. Letter attached

Mr. Charles P. Nemeth
Law/Justice Department
Glassboro State College
Glassboro, New Jersey 08028

Dear Mr. Nemeth:

I was most pleased to read of your proposed course name change. The Psychology Department strongly supports the name change of your course from Intro to Behavioral Research to Criminal Justice Research. This change will help prevent any confusion between this course and courses with similar names in other departments which deal with behavioral research. It will make clear to the students selecting the course the specific subject matter orientation. The new title emphasizes its law and justice research orientation.

If I can be of any further help, do not hesitate to call upon me.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in cursive script that reads "Eleanor P. Gaer".
