2. RATIONALE

(a) Need for Change

When originally developed, this program was intended to utilize a cohort model for student enrollment. With the cohort model, having prerequisites as originally designed made sense. However, two years experience of program implementation has clearly demonstrated two important items: (1) a cohort-only model for this program is untenable, and (2) the content of the courses can be effectively delivered in a sequence for which the present structure of prerequisites is no longer necessary.

(b) Statement of Curricular Effect

Aside from these minor changes in course prerequisites, there are no other changes to the program. The essence of the program will not be altered in any way.

3. REPORT OF CONSULTATIONS

This minor curriculum change is supported by the curriculum committee, the faculty, and the chairperson of the Educational Leadership Department.

RE: Proposed Curricular Changes

This is to advise you that that, at our department meeting on February 22, 2000, the Educational Leadership approved the following proposals for curricular changes:

- (1) Proposed minor curriculum change: Change prerequisites for selected courses in the administrative track within the M.A. in Higher Education
- (2) Proposed minor curriculum change: Additions and deletions of selected courses within the elective bank of the specialization in mathematics in the instructional track within the M.A. in Higher Education
- (3) Proposed major curriculum change: Updating the curriculum (including the development of new courses) of the specialization in computer science within the M.A. in Higher Education
- (4) Proposed minor curriculum change: Change in the credit designation for the course entitled Dissertation Research in Educational Leadership (0824.795) from 12 s.h. to variable credit 1-12 s.h. and an accompanying change in the catalog course description.
- (5) Proposed new course: Leading the Learning Centered School (3.s.h.)

These are all important changes that will enhance the quality of the program, and I urge the College Curriculum committee to approve them. Should you require additional information, please contact me.
