Non General Education Curriculum Proposal, Process A

Minor Curricular Proposal: Prerequisite Change for Survey of Spanish Literature II

Details:

- a. Drop one of three current prerequisite options for Survey of Spanish Literature II (1105.322): Students do not have to take Survey of Spanish Literature I (1105.321) before taking Survey of Spanish Literature II (1105.322) as it is stated in the current University catalog.
- b. Sponsor: Department of Foreign Languages & Literatures

Catalog Description

This course is a continuation of Spanish 321 (Survey of Spanish Literature I), covering works from the mid-eighteenth century to the beginning of the twentieth century.

Prerequisite: 1105.320 (Spanish Civilization & Culture) or 1105.324 (Spanish American Civilization & Culture), or 1105.321 (Survey of Spanish Literature I) or waiver

Rationale:

- a. Statement of Need:

The prerequisite for this course, as well as for all other upper level Spanish major courses has traditionally been Spanish Civilization & Culture (1105.320). In the past, students were able to register with relative ease for Survey of Spanish Literature II (1105.322) by means of prerequisite waiver before having taken Survey I (1105.321) until recently, when students were required by the Registrar to have this prerequisite. Upon consultation, the Department has realized that the prerequisite, Survey I (1105.321), as listed in both the catalog and in the system, is indeed an error created in the 2000-2002 catalog, and which we are addressing now through this proposal.

- b. Curricular Effect:

This change will not affect the curriculum whatsoever. In practice, many students over the years have taken Survey II (1105.322) before Survey I (1105.321) because of language ease, given that texts in the later centuries were written in modern Spanish. For this reason, the Department has never held students to the strict sequence of these survey courses. The designation of I and II, in essence, refers to the division of literary periods by chronology, and not as lock-step and ordered parts of a whole, in which one half is instrumental in understanding the other. Though both courses as a whole cover literary movements and periods of the entire Spanish cultural tradition, the order of study, as practiced in the past and proposed in this curriculum change, does not prove detrimental to the objectives of either course. In addition, this minor change does not affect any course sequencing prerequisite within the Spanish major. Finally, by allowing students to take Survey I and Survey II in any order, the Department is better able to accommodate more students through flexible scheduling of our 5-year course selection cycle.

c. Changes in Requirements:

None. This proposal only clarifies and rectifies the current Department practice of allowing students, especially Spring transfers, to begin with whichever course best fits into their Spanish major program guide. Survey of Spanish Literature I (1105.321) is now only offered in the fall.

Consultation:

- a. The proposed change will not affect other departments.
