Please explain the work that will be required of the intern: The Democracy Summer project seeks to bring about political change in America by training and deploying the next generation of Democratic organizers and leaders to win elections at every level. This one-of-a-kind Democratic Fellowship—founded in Maryland by Congressman Jamie Raskin but now undertaken across the country—teaches high school and college students state-of-the-art tactics in voter registration and political organizing, the dynamic history of political and social change in our country, and essential lessons for political leadership.

Will there be opportunities for the intern to observe:

Internal strategy sessions?  Legislative sessions?  Committee hearings?

Is the intern expected to work evenings and weekends? If so, please explain. N/A
